CONDITIONS OF SALE.

I. THE Collection being exposed in the Rooms merely for sale, and not to be made an exhibition of at the same time, the purchasers may have the pictures delivered the very next day after they are bought.

II. The buyer must deposit twenty per cent. on the price of the purchase, and pay the remainder on the delivery.

III. Receipts either for the earnest money, or for the whole purchase, must be signed by Messrs. Hickman and Kemp, two of the Committee appointed to conduct the sale.

IV. Purchasers may, if they think proper, leave their pictures in the Rooms till June 30, 1794, where they will remain secure to them, unavoidable accidents excepted.

V. Though it is presumed the Collection consists of none but pure and original pictures, the Committee neither can nor will warrant them such. They have even the candour to own that some pictures may have been put in the Catalogue under the names of masters of whom they are not; therefore the purchaser must leave his own judgement to decide, or that of whomsoever he may chuse to consult.

VI. If the measure of the pictures specified in the Catalogue should not be exact, the purchaser must submit to the chance.

VII. The pictures are to be removed at the expence of the purchaser, who must be present at the delivery, or send an order signed with his own hand.

VIII. To make the payments easy to those persons who may prefer it, the Committee will give three, six, or twelve months credit to purchasers whose responsibility will be known to them, upon their bills bearing an interest of five per cent.; others may also have the same advantage, but their bills must be accepted by a banker or merchant resident in London, and approved of by the Committee.

IX. If any purchaser does not send for his pictures and settle his account on the ^{30th} ~~31st~~ of ^{June} ~~May~~, 1794, he will forfeit the earnest money, and lose his right to the purchase.

X. No gentleman can be admitted into the Rooms without having a ticket issued in his own name.
